Subject: Review on 9251 Yonge Street Development Application

Sir,

Please accept the attached PDF file as my submission to Dec 9th Council Public Meeting regarding the 9251 Yonge Street Development Application.

This application has serious traffic, parking, height, density, and public resources issues. The City Staff released this application report last Friday at 4:30 PM and the response deadline given to residents is today at noon. Strictly speaking, it only gives residents one and a half working days to respond. Is this too much? This a strategy employed by the Council, for any development plan only considers the interests of developers, then the city will let as few residents know as possible.

Is it legal to give such short notice to stakeholders in such a highly controversial development plan?!

Does Richmond Hill really want to be a Super Sleep Town in the Guinness Book of Records?! Can our Council focus on job creation instead of rubber stamping every overdevelopment application?!

Detail see attached submission.

Thank you
John Li
